WARE MALCOMB ANNOUNCES COMPLETION OF PUROHIT NAVIGATION OFFICE IN WILLIS TOWER

CHICAGO (February 8, 2018) – Ware Malcomb, an award-winning international design firm, today announced the completion of the new Purohit Navigation corporate headquarters located at The Willis Tower, 233 South Wacker Drive, Suite 6220 in Chicago. Ware Malcomb provided interior architecture and design services for the project.

The new corporate headquarters of Purohit Navigation, a strategically-focused healthcare communications and advertising agency, is comprised of approximately 10,000 square feet. The office is situated on the 62nd floor of the tallest building in the city, The Willis Tower, in the heart of the Chicago Loop and just steps away from Metra stations and CTA stops.

An open, inviting space with ample natural light was created with an emphasis on a central collaborative area to support creative thinking. With a design concept called “The Creative Path,” the space explores and represents Purohit’s creative thought process and highlights the firm’s vibrant branding colors and graphics. Each of Purohit’s branding colors represent different aspects of the company, including its people, services, work, and more. The color concepts and client process helped to guide Ware Malcomb’s design.

All millwork was custom designed to fit Purohit’s needs, whether it was used strictly for storage or to highlight Purohit’s outstanding awards and accolades – all while maintaining a modern, clean façade.

“It was important for Purohit to express their brand personality while also creating an efficient and timeless design that would accommodate this fast-growing company,” said Dawn Riegel, Director, Interior Architecture & Design of Ware Malcomb’s Chicago offices. “It was a pleasure to work with their creative team to strike the right balance. The result is an office environment that will inspire employees and clients alike for years to come.”

The general contractor for the project was Bear Construction.
